Vijay Iyengar, MD

Executive Vice President, Global Strategy and Corporate Development, Incyte Corporation

Incyte Corporation and A Brief History of the War on Cancer

Cancer is pervasive throughout human history. But although the earliest recorded descriptions of this disease date to nearly 4000 years ago, pharmaceutical approaches to cancer treatment only began in earnest after World War II. Dr. Iyengar will present a history of cancer and its treatment, focusing on the different waves of advancements made in the last 50 years. Additionally, Dr. Iyengar will provide a brief history of Incyte Corporation, its contributions to the war on cancer (and other diseases) and explain why we should be hopeful for the future of cancer treatment.

Vijay Iyengar joined Incyte in May 2016 as Executive Vice President, Global Strategy and Corporate Development. In this role he leads the company's Global Product Strategy, Business Development, Alliance Management, and Rest of World (ROW) teams. Dr. Iyengar has more than 20 years of pharmaceutical industry experience. Prior to Incyte, he was the President of Genoptix Corporation, a Novartis Company, where he led a 650-person organization delivering CAP/CLIA certified oncology diagnostic testing and clinical trial assay services. Previous to that, Dr. Iyengar held various leadership roles in Global, U.S., and European commercial functions at Novartis — he was Vice President and Rare Diseases Franchise Head at Novartis Oncology and Vice President and Oncology General Manager of Novartis Greece. Before joining Novartis in 2003, Dr. Iyengar was an Engagement Manager at McKinsey & Company where he served pharmaceutical and medical device clients as part of their healthcare practice. Dr. Iyengar received his Bachelor of Science degree in Biology from Stanford University and earned his MD from Harvard Medical School.
