

LUNCHEON SERIES

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 12, 2022

We are pleased to announce our next lunch hour speaker.

Begins @ Noon

Rhea Thomas

“Economic Outlook: Key Drivers to Watch”

Economist Rhea Thomas will discuss her views on key economic drivers and the trends we expect to unfold for growth, inflation, and interest rates.

Following a global pandemic and the implementation of unprecedented government fiscal and monetary policies, where are U.S. and global economies headed?

Rhea Thomas is a Senior Economist at Wilmington Trust, where she analyzes macroeconomic data and researches emerging trends in the U.S. and international economies for the firm's Investment Committee. She regularly produces written insights and presents the firm's economic views to internal and external audiences, including clients, prospective clients, and media.

Prior to joining Wilmington Trust, Rhea served as a Vice President in Foreign Exchange Sales at Lehman Brothers. Earlier in her career, she focused on foreign exchange research, where she helped to build models and write publications to explain currency market movements and trade ideas.

Rhea holds a bachelor's degree in Economics and International Studies with Distinction from Yale University.

Menu

Fall Vegetable Soup

*

BAKED CHICKEN BREAST, DRIED FRUIT STUFFING

LEEK AND CRANBERRY CONFIT

WILD RICE AND LENTIL PILAF

*

Apple Tart, Caramel Sauce

Members will be billed for the cost of the Luncheon.

Please Contact the Club for Reservations: 658.4287 or wilmclub@comcast.net